We received a counter notification (below) in response to a copyright removal request that you submitted. A counter notification is a legal request for YouTube to reinstate a video that was removed due to a copyright removal request.

You have 10 US business days to reply to this counter notification. Your response must include evidence that you've taken legal action against the uploader to keep the content from being reinstated to YouTube. Usually, evidence would include a lawsuit against the uploader, which names the YouTube URL(s) at issue and seeks a court order to restrain the alleged infringement.

Evidence should be submitted by replying directly to this email. Do not send your reply to copyright@youtube.com.

After 10 US business days, if we don't get a response from you, the content at issue may be reinstated to YouTube. You can find more information about the legal action you must take and what evidence is acceptable in our Help Center.

Hello YouTube Team, I have checked many times and I confirm that 100% of the featured clips in this video are authorized by the owner before I use it. I still keep email and text messages to the owners for all featured clips so I can give you any time to confirm that I'm using the clips legally. I'm using highlight clips for my videos after I got permission from the original clips owner. So I don't know how this user submits copyright sticks on my videos. Also, I see this user is using the same email with 3 different names (Brian Emfinger; Reed Timmer; WxChasing) so I'm suspecting this user is abusing the copyright claim feature to send fake copyright sticks on my videos. I request this user to submit documents or proof to confirm the relationship of these 3 usernames as one person. If this user is unable to provide documents or proof regarding these 3 usernames, it means this user is abusing the copyright claim tool and using a fake name to destroy my channel. This is video information that needs to be checked and restored: Uploader: NA Weather Video url: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uXSYXdr4YtE> I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled. I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant. Hope to get help from the YouTube support team soon. Best regards, NGUYEN MINH CHIEN

I believe that removing my video was wrong because my use of copyrighted material is protected by a fair use policy whereby in certain situations I can use copyrighted material without permission from the copyright holder. The source material is based on commonly known facts and is not fiction. The borrowed excerpt is not a significant part of the original video and is considered bona fide. The excerpt does not contain the main message of the original work. The main message in the original work has been completely changed, and the content I used was not the focus of the original work. Using someone else's content without permission to create explainer videos as well as news stories can be considered bona fide. All of my videos contain details of natural disasters with interesting content and historical events to increase viewers' knowledge and and to diversify their leisure time. The videos and content I create are subject to YouTube rules. I pledge not to use copyrighted content from certain individuals or organizations to make money. However, my channel has had problems due to an infringement notice and my videos have been removed by you. In the end, we hope the incident was just a misunderstanding. Counter Notification as follows:

Videos included in counter notification:

- <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zbm8EwmLYLY>

Display name of uploader: Wahr

I believe the deletion of my video (www.youtube.com/watch?v=zbm8EwmLYLY) was in error because my use of copyrighted content is protected by the fair use policy. In the United States, works of commentary, criticism, research, teaching, or news reporting may be considered fair use. It is important that the main message in the original work has been completely changed and the content that I have used is not the focus of the original work. The duration of the fragment to which the plaintiff claims the rights is 6 seconds, which is less than 1% of the total length of my video (691seconds).

Courts have decided that copyright holders must consider whether copyright exceptions apply before they submit a copyright removal request.

I argue that video was protected by the doctrine of fair use and that plaintiff takedown request violated Section 512(f) of the DMCA because it knowingly materially misrepresented that the video was infringing. Under the DMCA, a proper takedown notice must include a statement that the owner or its agent has a that the use of the copyrighted work is not authorized under the law.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief that the material was removed or disabled as a result of a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

To: <bcllemms@gmail.com>

We received a counter notification (below) in response to a copyright removal request that you submitted. A counter notification is a legal request for YouTube to reinstate a video that was removed due to a copyright removal request.

You have 10 US business days to reply to this counter notification. Your response must include evidence that you've taken legal action against the uploader to keep the content from being reinstated to YouTube. Usually, evidence would include a lawsuit against the uploader, which names the YouTube URL(s) at issue and seeks a court order to restrain the alleged infringement.

Evidence should be submitted by replying directly to this email. Do not send your reply to copyright@youtube.com.

After 10 US business days, if we don't get a response from you, the content at issue may be reinstated to YouTube. You can find more information about the legal action you must take and what evidence is acceptable in our Help Center.

Dear YouTube Team,

I am writing in response to the copyright infringement complaint filed against me regarding the news content (www.youtube.com/watch?v=Xv1O50eBxrg) I created from public social media videos.

Firstly, I would like to assert that my use of the public social media videos falls under the fair use doctrine as outlined in the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 107. According to this doctrine, the use of copyrighted material is considered fair if it is used for purposes such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, or research.

In the case of my news content, the public social media videos were used solely for the purpose of news reporting. This is a well-established legal precedent, as demonstrated by the case of Hustler Magazine v. Falwell, 485 U.S. 46 (1988), which held that the First Amendment protects the use of copyrighted material for the purpose of news reporting and commentary.

Furthermore, the Supreme Court has held in Harper & Row Publishers, Inc. v. Nation Enterprises, 471 U.S. 539 (1985), that the fair use doctrine does not apply only to non-profit or educational uses of copyrighted material. The court noted that commercial uses of copyrighted material can also be considered fair use under certain circumstances, such as when the use is transformative or serves a different purpose than the original work.

In my case, my use of the public social media videos was transformative in that I used them to create news content that was different in purpose and character from the original videos. Additionally, my use of the videos did not compete with the market for the original videos, as my news content was distributed through a different medium and for a different audience.

In conclusion, I believe that my use of the public social media videos in my news content falls squarely within the bounds of fair use as established by judicial precedent and the United States Copyright Act. I respectfully request that YouTube withdraw its copyright infringement complaint against me.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief that the material was removed or disabled as a result of a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

Sincerely,

Kevin MacLeod

I believe the deletion of my video was in error because my use of copyrighted content is protected by the fair use policy. In the United States, works of commentary, criticism, research, teaching, or news reporting may be considered fair use. It is important that the main message in the original work has been completely changed and the content that I have used is not the focus of the original work. The duration of the fragment to which the plaintiff claims the rights is 6 seconds, which is less than 1% of the total length of my video (691seconds). Courts have decided that copyright holders must consider whether copyright exceptions apply before they submit a copyright removal request. I argue that video was protected by the doctrine of fair use and that plaintiff takedown request violated Section 512(f) of the DMCA because it knowingly materially misrepresented that the video was infringing. Under the DMCA, a proper takedown notice must include a statement that the owner or its agent has a that the use of the copyrighted work is not authorized under the law.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

We received a counter notification (below) in response to a copyright removal request that you submitted. A counter notification is a legal request for YouTube to reinstate a video that was removed due to a copyright removal request.

You have 10 US business days to reply to this counter notification. Your response must include evidence that you've taken legal action against the uploader to keep the content from being reinstated to YouTube. Usually, evidence would include a lawsuit against the uploader, which names the YouTube URL(s) at issue and seeks a court order to restrain the alleged infringement.

Evidence should be submitted by replying directly to this email. Do not send your reply to copyright@youtube.com.

After 10 US business days, if we don't get a response from you, the content at issue may be reinstated to YouTube. You can find more information about the legal action you must take and what evidence is acceptable in our Help Center.

Counter Notification as follows:

Videos included in counter notification:

- <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cgillBcr60o>

Display name of uploader: EXTREME WEATHER & NATURAL DISASTERS

Dear YouTube Team,

I am writing in response to the copyright infringement complaint filed against me regarding the news content (www.youtube.com/watch?v=cgillBcr60o) I created from public social media videos.

Firstly, I would like to assert that my use of the public social media videos falls under the fair use doctrine as outlined in the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 107. According to this doctrine, the use of copyrighted material is considered fair if it is used for purposes such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, or research.

In the case of my news content, the public social media videos were used solely for the purpose of news reporting. This is a well-established legal precedent, as demonstrated by the case of Hustler Magazine v. Falwell, 485 U.S. 46 (1988), which held that the First Amendment protects the use of copyrighted material for the purpose of news reporting and commentary.

Furthermore, the Supreme Court has held in Harper & Row Publishers, Inc. v. Nation Enterprises, 471 U.S. 539 (1985), that the fair use doctrine does not apply only to non-profit or educational uses of copyrighted material. The court noted that commercial uses of copyrighted material can also be considered fair use under certain circumstances, such as when the use is transformative or serves a different purpose than the original work.

In my case, my use of the public social media videos was transformative in that I used them to create news content that was different in purpose and character from the original videos. Additionally, my use of the videos did not compete with the market for the original videos, as my news content was distributed through a different medium and for a different audience.

In conclusion, I believe that my use of the public social media videos in my news content falls squarely within the bounds of fair use as established by judicial precedent and the United States Copyright Act. I respectfully request that YouTube withdraw its copyright infringement complaint against me.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief that the material was removed or disabled as a result of a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

Sincerely,

Kevin MacLeod

Dear YouTube Copyright Team,

I am writing in response to the copyright complaint that was filed against my video (www.youtube.com/watch?v=ro6fMkOPfN4). I am submitting this counter notice to inform you that I believe the claim of copyright infringement is erroneous and unjustified.

Firstly, I attest that I have a good faith belief that the material in question is not infringing on any copyright. The content in my video is either original or falls under fair use, as it is transformative, non-commercial and serves a critique, commentary or educational purpose. Furthermore, the amount of the original work used in my video is minimal, and it does not compete with the market for the original work.

Secondly, I have not received any notice of infringement prior to the complaint. I had no knowledge of any alleged infringement and therefore could not have acted in bad faith. I have made every effort to comply with YouTube's copyright policies and will continue to do so in the future.

Lastly, I affirm that the information in this notice is accurate and under penalty of perjury, I am the owner of the content in my video or have been authorized to act on behalf of the owner of the content.

In light of the above, I request that you reinstate my video as soon as possible. If you require any further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

I believe that removing my video (www.youtube.com/watch?v=fH-udjnk1LM) was wrong because my use of copyrighted material is protected by a fair use policy whereby in certain situations I can use copyrighted material without permission from the copyright holder. The source material is based on commonly known facts and is not fiction. The borrowed excerpt is not a significant part of the original video and is considered bona fide. The excerpt does not contain the main message of the original work. The main message in the original work has been completely changed, and the content I used was not the focus of the original work.

Using someone else's content without permission to create explainer videos as well as news stories can be considered bona fide. All of my videos contain details of natural disasters with interesting content and historical events to increase viewers' knowledge and and to diversify their leisure time. The videos and content I create are subject to YouTube rules. I pledge not to use copyrighted content from certain individuals or organizations to make money. However, my channel has had problems due to an infringement notice and my videos have been removed by you. In the end, we hope the incident was just a misunderstanding. I hereby confirm that the statements I made are true. I take responsibility for my words. I hope the Youtube team will reconsider your decision.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

We received a counter notification (below) in response to a copyright removal request that you submitted. A counter notification is a legal request for YouTube to reinstate a video that was removed due to a copyright removal request.

You have 10 US business days to reply to this counter notification. Your response must include evidence that you've taken legal action against the uploader to keep the content from being reinstated to YouTube. Usually, evidence would include a lawsuit against the uploader, which names the YouTube URL(s) at issue and seeks a court order to restrain the alleged infringement.

Evidence should be submitted by replying directly to this email. Do not send your reply to copyright@youtube.com.

After 10 US business days, if we don't get a response from you, the content at issue may be reinstated to YouTube. You can find more information about the legal action you must take and what evidence is acceptable in our Help Center.

Counter Notification as follows:

Videos included in counter notification:

- <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ibJ5cJbXhZ8>

Display name of uploader: EXTREME WEATHER & NATURAL DISASTERS

I believe that removing my video (www.youtube.com/watch?v=ibJ5cJbXhZ8) was wrong because my use of copyrighted material is protected by a fair use policy whereby in certain situations I can use copyrighted material without permission from the copyright holder. The source material is based on commonly known facts and is not fiction. The borrowed excerpt is not a significant part of the original video and is considered bona fide. The excerpt does not contain the main message of the original work. The main message in the original work has been completely changed, and the content I used was not the focus of the original work.

Using someone else's content without permission to create explainer videos as well as news stories can be considered bona fide. All of my videos contain details of natural disasters with interesting content and historical events to increase viewers' knowledge and and to diversify their leisure time. The videos and content I create are subject to YouTube rules. I pledge not to use copyrighted content from certain individuals or organizations to make money. However, my channel has had problems due to an infringement notice and my videos have been removed by you. In the end, we hope the incident was just a misunderstanding. I hereby confirm that the statements I made are true. I take responsibility for my words. I hope the Youtube team will reconsider your decision.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Display name of uploader: EXTREME WEATHER & NATURAL DISASTERS

I am writing in response to your copyright infringement complaint regarding my video www.youtube.com/watch?v=K5nYKXFgyy4 . While I appreciate your concerns regarding the unauthorized use of your content, I believe that my video constitutes fair use under United States copyright law.

Firstly, I would like to clarify that the content used in my video was obtained from publicly available social media videos. As such, it is my belief that this content falls under fair use as it was not obtained through any unauthorized means or infringing activity.

Furthermore, my video is a news report, which provides commentary, analysis, and criticism of the publicly available social media videos. As such, it is transformative in nature and does not serve as a replacement for the original content. This use of the content is consistent with fair use under 17 U.S.C. § 107.

In addition, my video is non-commercial in nature, and I receive no financial gain from the use of the copyrighted material. This fact further supports my belief that my use of the content falls under fair use.

Lastly, I would like to emphasize that my video is intended for educational and informational purposes. It is not my intention to infringe on your copyright, and I have made efforts to ensure that the copyrighted material is used in a manner that is consistent with fair use.

In light of the above, I respectfully request that you withdraw your copyright infringement complaint. If you have any further questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Kevin MacLeod
